HARDY AZALEAS

EASY TO GROW

Our most sensational offer in 42 YEARS of business. Three gorgeous, new varieties of HARDY Azaleas. Two from Japan, one from Korea. After exhaustive tests we can conscientiously recommend these three varieties both for color and hardiness. Let Flame, Torch and Royal Light Your Garden and Lawn This Spring.

FLAME: Flowers in flaming shades of red, yellow and orange in large clusters, extremely hardy.

TORCH: Tall growing variety producing great torch like clusters of vivid orange red to salmon-pink flowers. Hardy in any latitude.

ROYAL: The grand Korean variety. Masses of rosy-pink flowers flecked with brown. Sturdy and hardy.

Azeleas should be planted in partial shade and in semi-acid soil. This acidity may be obtained by working peat moss in around the roots when planting. All orders shipped by us will have a sufficient quantity of peat moss wrapped around the roots of each plant to insure successful growth, if that amount is mixed well in around the roots when planted.

Plant Nothing But the Best Nursery Stock

No matter what you plant, whether it's trees, shrubs, vines, fruit trees or berries, always remember there is one thing necessary for success. Because no matter how much you pay; no matter how much you water, fertilize, hoe and cultivate; no matter how much you prune or spray—to grow good plants you must plant quality stock to begin with. Be safe and buy from Krider.

5 Reasons Why KRIDER'S PLANTS ARE BETTER

1st We grow in large quantities and have over 300 acres of growing nursery stock. We ship to thousands of customers all over the world.

2nd The different soils we have here are adapted to the growing of many different varieties so that we can grow a larger variety at a lower cost of production than is elsewhere the case.

3rd Our Northern Indiana climate produces a strong, sturdy plant which cannot be bettered anywhere in the United States.

4th Our methods and facilities insure the stock planted, grown, dug, packed, and shipped according to the latest approved methods.

5th Besides state and government inspection, our own rigid inspection of each plant that leaves this nursery has made Krider stock world-famous.

MARCH 15

As a rule most people wait until the first warm, sunshiny days of spring before they begin to think of ordering. If we can induce part or all of our patrons to send in their orders early we can distribute this work over a longer period of time and not only handle the orders better, but with a much smaller force of men and women. This means a considerable saving of time and money to us, and is the one and only reason we can make the liberal premium offer as set forth below.

REMEMBER THE DATE BEFORE THIS OFFER EXPIRES

For all spring orders amounting to $5.00 received before March 15th, we will allow you to select $1.00 worth of any fruit or shrubbery listed in our catalog. For all orders amounting to $10.00 we will allow you to select $2.00 worth. (20% on each additional dollar.)

GARDEN.

Dear Friends:

Each year there are several hundred new varieties of roses developed. Of these hundreds only a few are destined to become popular in American gardens throughout the land. Because I have always taken pride in growing the very best roses for my friends, who live in every State in the Union, I determined to see all the principal rose gardens throughout the United States. The past two years I visited all the leading rose gardens throughout 40 different states, traveling over 20,000 miles in searching for the best roses for our customers. Roses shown on this page represent varieties which have given satisfaction throughout the gardens of America. I recommend this list to all my customers and friends throughout the United States as the best All-American Collection for 1937.

YELLOW VARIETIES

SUNBURST—A top-ranking yellow rose with long pointed buds of exquisite texture. Rich bronze-yellow flower colorings and delightful fragrance.

SUNKIST—From California. Brilliant Yellow.

LADY HILLINGDON—The beautiful ever-popular apricot-yellow Tea Rose.

HOW TO GROW ROSES

Consider these simple instructions: Sunny location. The soil should be clean and mellow, with thoroughly worked in fertilizer—well rotted manure being the best. The plants should be unpacked as soon as received from the nursery and planted. If unable to plant them immediately upon receiving them, they should be heeled-in (buried) in moist, loose earth, awaiting time to plant. In planting they should be set two or three inches deeper than they stood in the nursery. Dig the holes big enough so that the roots may be naturally spread out. Make sure all the fibrous roots are firmly packed by sifting and tramping. Be particular to soak the fresh planting and never allow it to dry out or the soil to cake. After planting throw up a small mound of earth five or six inches high around each plant. Then cut off the branches about one inch above mound leaving it this way for ten days or two weeks, or until the buds start to grow. Then the dirt mound can be raked down. Roses handled this way rarely fail to grow. If roses are planted with the tops left exposed to the sun and drying winds they are almost sure to shrivel before time for them to grow. Roses should be planted from 18 to 24 inches apart. Rugosa Roses are used in the same way as shrubs. Polyantha roses (Baby Ramblers) in massed beds or borders. They bloom all summer.

Special Austrian Copper

A late introduction of the old favorite garden varieties. Should be planted by itself, as it grows three or four feet in height. It is especially good for corner or in border plantings. When blooming it is a very beautiful sight with its single flowers of the most brilliant copper-scarlet colors completely covering the bush. A very hardy variety, and needs no pruning or special care. Producing flowers year after year.

WATER LILIES

Plant the lilies with the crown at surface of soil about 8 to 10 inches deep, allowing two square feet per lily. There should be about 10 to 12 inches of water in pool above plants. Drain pool and cover lilies with straw or leaves for winter protection.

CHINESE PURPLE

HOW TO GROW CLEMATIS

Clematis will thrive and grow in almost any climate, but for best results they should be planted in a somewhat sunny location and as near a non-acid soil as possible. The soil can be fixed by mixing lime through the soil at planting time, or if applied after the plants are set it can be worked through by cultivation. Clematis should be planted with the dirt about two inches up on the stem above the root, if planted with the crown level with the soil the roots will become dried out and die. A fairly large hole should be dug so that the roots may be spread out in planting. If the soil is poor the hole should be filled with good rich garden soil. If planted in this manner Clematis are nearly always sure to grow.

BUSH HONEYSUCKLE HEDGE

HOW TO PLANT A HEDGE

Dig a trench ten to twelve inches deep and as wide as an ordinary spade. The plants should then be set in a straight row a couple inches deeper than they stood in the nursery row, or deep enough so the lower branches will be under the ground. Such deep planting will make a compact hedge down to the ground line, but if the plants are set shallow there will always be undesirable open spaces at the base of the hedge. Privet should be set about ten inches apart, or if real dense hedge is desired it can be planted in a double row, planted eight inches apart either way. Privet should be cut back to about eight inches in height after planting to promote vigorous growth. Barberry should be planted in a similar manner except they should be planted about eighteen inches apart.

HOW TO GROW RASPBERRIES

Raspberry plants, the new growth of which starts from the crown in the mass of hair-like roots; these should be planted shallow, with the crown not more than one inch below the surface. Too deep planting is often fatal to raspberry plants. Plant in rows five or six feet apart, with plants three to four feet apart in the row. Firm the dirt around each plant. Keep surface of ground loose. The ground should be carefully prepared by deep plowing. 1745 Plant To Acre 5 feet apart each way.

The Quality of Strawberry Plants
In looking through the many catalogs you receive you will notice that many claim to be the largest growers of plants, and their plants are the best grown. We do not claim to be the largest grower of plants or that they are better than some others, but we have bought plants from some that make such claims in different parts of the country and have never received any better than we send out. In some cases we had to throw away half of the plants as they had the crowns broken or were so small that they were not worth planting. We guarantee the plants we send out to be as large and as fine as you get anywhere (no matter what you pay), and to be put up in as good condition. If grown side by side, under like conditions, that they will produce as much and as good fruit.

GOOSEBERRIES

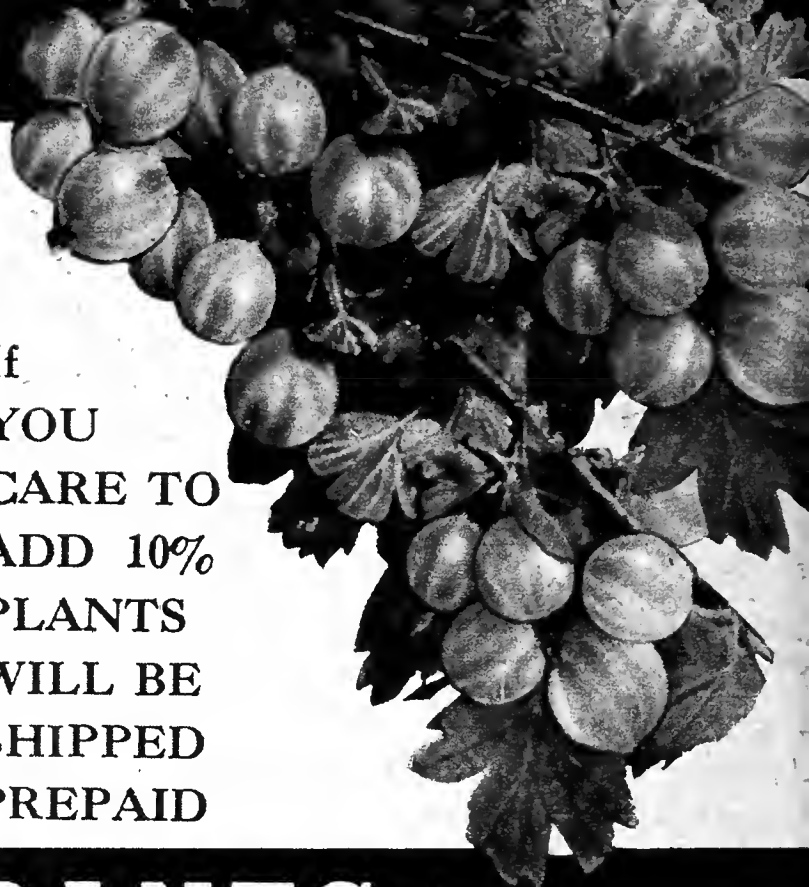

This fruit either green or ripe is very useful for cooking and is used extensively for canning. Requires the same cultivation and treatment as currants. The surest method to prevent mildew is to plant thickly in the rows and mulch deeply (six or more inches) with straw, tan bark, coal ashes, etc. Plantations thus created have borne large crops for as high as twenty years. The mulch retains moisture in the driest weather, the few weeds that push up are easily pulled and the fruit is large and more evenly ripened.

DOWNING. Fruit large, round and light green with distinct vein and smooth skin. Soft, juicy and fine flavored. Vigorous and productive. One of the best.

HOUGHTON. Medium size, pale red, sweet and juicy. A vigorous grower and abundant bearer. Immune to mildew.

THOMPSON'S SEEDLESS

New! ⁴⁷ HARDY Grafted California Grapes FOR ALL SECTIONS

When our forefathers settled in America they planted many vineyards of the European (later called California) Grapes, which they had brought along from the old country. While their vineyards grew and flourished in California those throughout the eastern states failed utterly. By grafting California stock to Phyloxera-resistant native under-stock the success of the California Grape in all sections has been assured. We now have these California types, suitable for planting in all states, available to our customers. The varieties we offer are those you have undoubtedly been buying from fruit markets for your own use.

THOMPSON'S SEEDLESS, which produces large branches of delicious small seedless fruit. White in color, see illustration.

MUSCATEL, a black variety of extra large fruit with a very rich flavor.
